

Lingo Booth For Universities

Structured language practice across web and mobile

Lingo Booth helps universities extend language learning beyond class time with guided lessons, conversation practice, flashcards, quizzes, writing practice, progress tracking, certificates, and institution subscriptions. The platform supports 20 languages as both learning targets and learner interface/native languages.

Why Universities Care

Structured practice between live class sessions
Speaking, writing, review, and confidence-building in one platform
Web and mobile access for flexible student practice
Multiple native-to-target language pairs, not a single-language program
Cohort-based access with reporting and expansion options

Recommended First Pilot

Pilot length	6 weeks
Cohort	Up to 100 learners
Best fit	One department, course, study abroad cohort, or student support program
Included	Learner access, instructor/admin access where available, launch support, midpoint check-in, final summary
Draft fee	$2,500, credited toward an annual subscription if the university continues within 30 days

Success Metrics

75%+	60%+	3+	1
invited learners activate	activated learners practice weekly	practice modes used	clear expansion decision

Best-Fit University Use Cases

Language departments	More out-of-class practice for enrolled students.
Study abroad offices	Pre-departure communication readiness.
International support	Flexible practice for campus and academic situations.
Continuing education	Digital practice alongside paid language cohorts.

Next Step

Define one pilot cohort, one target language program, launch date, success metrics, and procurement path.
